Pair of 19th Century Vintage Brown Leather Club Chairs/I will put in standby or mary until set of 4 is shot

Pair of 19th century vintage club chairs upholstered in brown leather. Decorative detailing along the backs uses self piping and buttons to create a diamond motif, while the arms flare gently outward at the sides, giving the pair an overall Art Deco effect. Nail head trim accents the chairs throughout, including along the backs, and hardwood block feet complete the form below. The vintage brown leather shows typical signs of wear including crackling, rubbed areas, staining, scratches, and impressions, including along the sides. A darker blackened effect is seen along the upper headrest, decorative back details, and fronts of the chairs, adding depth and a unique look. Seat cushions are covered in old vintage fabric with blue button accents and may easily be reupholstered at the buyer's discretion. The chairs may also benefit from a leather cleaner or conditioner, which we leave to the discretion of the buyer.
