19th Century Danish Oak Side Table

19th century Danish side table, crafted in oak with a rich aged patina that reveals generations of use. The top shows old knots, cracks, stains, and residual signs of dried wormhole activity, all no longer active and contributing to the worn character of the piece. The table rests on a strong trestle base with two turned columns and heavy feet, giving it a grounded and substantial look in a compact scale. Age related cracks and old repairs are seen in the base and legs, all typical for a piece of this age. Restored strong, stable, and ready to use. Please examine close-up photos of the top for a clear understanding of the distressed character and patina.

Please refer to professional photos for clear understanding of color, condition, and details; photo lighting, individual monitor display and home lighting all impact how item is viewed. Photos are part of item description, please ask questions or request additional photos of specific areas if needed.
