19th Century French Bleached Oak Sideboard Buffet with Eight Drawers

19th century French sideboard, crafted in oak and bleached to create a lighter finish (with darker sections throughout) suited to a range of interiors. The cabinet has three paneled doors with simple carved accent details and eight smaller drawers, providing substantial storage within a balanced French country charm. The cabinet doors open using two included keys and reveal a removable interior shelf.

Restored, strong, stable, and ready to use. Scrapes and cracks are visible along the top and sides, with similar age related distress across the front. These signs of use contribute to the aged character of the buffet without affecting its function.
