Pair of 20th Century Black Painted Pine Bookcase Display Cabinets

Pair of 20th century bookcases, crafted in pine and given a newer black painted finish. Long glass panels provide generous visibility for displaying books, servingware, collections, or decorative objects, while the warm waxed pine interiors create an attractive contrast to the dark exterior.

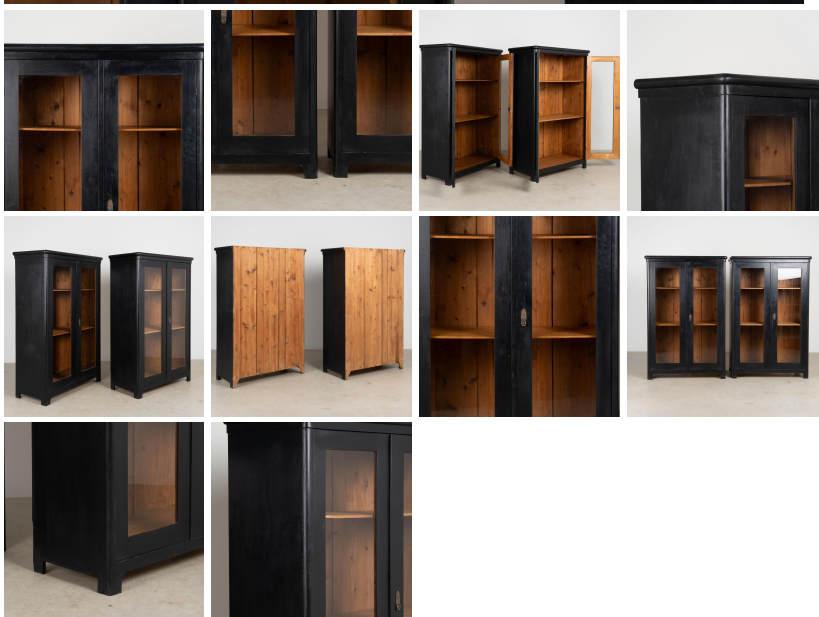

The interior shelves measure approximately 18 1/4 inches deep, providing substantial display and storage space. The left doors are secured with sliding upper locks, while the right doors snap into place and open using a single brass pull.

Minor nicks and scratches are visible throughout but are largely softened by the newer black painted finish. Faint outlines remain where previous round hardware was once positioned at the door openings, though these marks are subtle beneath the paint. Old cracks/age-related separation are also visible along the sides of each bookcase.

Restored, strong, stable, and ready to use.
