Pair of 20th Century Danish Whitewashed Pine Small Cabinet Nightstands

Pair of 20th century Danish nightstands or small cabinets, crafted in pine with a simple whitewashed finish applied at a later point in time. The finish is scraped and distressed throughout, revealing areas of natural wood beneath and creating a relaxed cottage character. Areas around knots in the pine show additional loss of finish.

Each cabinet door is fitted with a simple carved wood pull and opens in the opposite direction from its mate. Additional carved detail accents the lower edge of the doors, while gently curved skirts and elongated cabriole legs give the pair a graceful silhouette.

The doors open to reveal a single interior shelf and close with a metal snap positioned in the upper corner. The backs are constructed from a lighter colored wood. Small nicks, cracks, stains, and minor scratches are visible throughout but do not impact function.

Restored, stable, and ready to use.
