Antique Walnut Spanish Side Table with Wrought Iron Stretchers and Carved Swans in Legs

This handsome Spanish side table has a traditional carved lyre leg but made in the unique shape of swan heads. Note the left side had the date 1799 carved into the leg. The twisted wrought-iron stretchers add a wonderful contrast to the rich patina of the aged walnut. Please examine photos closely, especially of the top to appreciate the deep aged patina, also revealing the many generations of use in the marks, stains, nicks etc which add to the authentic character of this attractive table. This table is strong, stable and level (the left leg turns slightly inward where attached to the iron stretcher). All wear is commensurate with age.
