Antique Console Table On Cabriolet Legs

This low console table draws one to it with a desire to run fingers along the top due to the deep, aged patina of the old pine. There is residual green paint that has worn off through generations of use while the top reveals stains, cracks and old wear which simply add to the rich character of the table itself. The heavy cabriolet legs balance the heft of the two large drawers. This enticing console table will also make a striking sofa table. This unique table has been restored and waxed; it is ready to be used and enjoyed.
