Antique Long Gray Painted Bench from Hungary

This wonderful country bench has a scalloped back accented by curved arms and legs, adding a slight romantic touch to it. The gray paint was added at some point later in time (you can see the texture of crackled older finish below), which allows it to be used and enjoyed in a variety of ways in today's modern home. Any knicks, distress to paint, and the age related separation of the planks that make the seat are a reflection of age and use but do not impact its strength nor function. This long bench is solid and stable, ready to be used and enjoyed.
